

Disclosure of Financial Relationships With Ineligible Companies

In the interest of maintaining the independence of its continuing medical education (CME) activities, the IAS–USA requires all persons with control of educational content to disclose any financial relationships with ineligible companies (previously defined as “commercial interests”) that they have had within the past 24 months. Any real or apparent conflicts of interest of those parties are resolved and mitigated prior to the delivery of the CME activity. Individuals who refuse to disclose financial interests may not participate in IAS–USA CME activities.

The ACCME defines ineligible companies as “those whose primary business is producing, marketing, selling, reselling, or distributing healthcare products used by or on patients.”

This information is intended to make the audience aware of speaker and contributor financial relationships with ineligible companies, enabling the audience members to form their own judgements about such associations. Each author, contributor, or person in control of the content in the CME activity is required to complete this financial disclosure declaration.

IAS–USA has identified and resolved all conflicts of interest that may influence CME activities with regard to exposition or conclusion. All relevant financial relationships with ineligible companies have been mitigated among the planners and presenters. Information about financial relationships with ineligible companies will be available in the slides prior to the presentation of educational content.
